FAR IN NIGHT
AT CONVENTION

WOMEN ENTER DEBATE

One Declares for "Spring House Cleaning"—"Fighting Parson" Speaks Out

(By Associated Press.)
Devils Lake, N. D., Mar. 31.—The Independent Voters Association convention got under way at 8 o'clock last night with the permanent organization completed and opinion apparently about evenly divided as to whether there would be a recall or not. More than 400 delegates were in attendance and 1,200 persons parked the convention hall. It is one of the largest political conventions in the history of the state.
J. E. Davis, of Goodrich, who is opposed to the recall, was elected as chairman, and George Shafer, of Watford City, who favors the recall, was secretary. Davis and Shafer had been advanced as candidates for chairman by their respective factions and the selection was termed a harmony move by delegates.

Outlines Committee Work.
Judge B. F. Spaulding, of Fargo, who called the convention to order, outlined the history of the recall movement and told how the committee of 21, with seven each from the Independent Republicans, Democrats,
and Independent Voters Association, had gone on record in favor of the recall. He declared that the political and business situation in North Dakota is the most critical the state has ever faced and said the leader of the Nonpartisans recently admitted that the league program late hangs on the recall and that a defeat for the Non-partisans would set their plans back for twenty years. Above all, however, he said the delegates must pledge unanimous effort and harmony to carry out the work outlined by the convention.

The only discordant note arose
when Herb Gray, a banker of Rock Lake spoke in opposition to Davis as chairman shouting that "we want no post-dated candidate." Alexander Mc-Kenzie and Senator P. J. McCumber have placed a coach on a sidetrack here. Gray was referring to a special sleeping car placed here for the Statesman county delegation.

Sees "New Day."
Davis, in a speech of acceptance, declared that North Dakotans had been asleep for the past four years and must wake up and fight to a finish.
His expression, "I see the dawn of a new day," brought hearty applause, as it was a "new day," that was the slogan of the Non-partisan league the first year it was in control in North Dakota.

Claimed Recall Majority.
Following a caucus last night, it was claimed by delegates that the Independent Voters' Association advocates had 200 of 391 delegates attending the convention of forces opposed to the Nonpartisan league lined up in favor of a recall, but the number of proxies held by the delegates had not been taken in account assured, delegates said.

Speakers from all parts of the state took the stand for and against the recall of Nonpartisan officials and the convention continued long into the morning, with little chance that a vote on the recall would be reached before today.

T. G. Nelson, secretary of the Independent Voters' Association, outlined the political history of the league for the past four years and declared that there must be an organization fully as efficient and complete as the Nonpartisan league to win against it.
He declared that the Nonpartisan league had made North Dakota the horrible example of all states and that "the mutilation process must be stopped, even with such drastic means as a recall election."

"This gang of political pirates swept down on us and with 50,000 persons signed up at $16 each, gained the most formidable political organization this or any state has known by these socialists," Nelson declared.

Recall Not Understood.
Arthur Fowler of Fargo, an attorney, opened the direct debate on the recall by declaring that he is against it because the recall is new and not understood by most voters, that there is no overwhelming sentiment for the recall at present, that more money and organization is necessary and that money cannot be raised because of the present tight money situation and that the league is so completely organized that the Independents cannot organize to win with only a few months work.

Fowler urged that the convention appoint a committee of 10
with one from each legislative district to keep the state organization informed as to the proper time when the recall might be ripe and to reconvene the convention at that time to take such action.

Rev. A. C. Burroughs of St. Thomas, "The Fighting Parson" and enemy of the recall, declared that the recall is a "spring house cleaning" and that the recall is a "fighting parson"
and enemy of the recall.

Splendor of Middle Age Reflect-

Gibbons

GREAT NUMBERS PRESENT

Clergy from All Parts of the Country Gather at Baltimore for Ceremonies

Baltimore, March 31.—With all the splendor of a ceremony centuries old the Roman Catholic church today laid to rest one of its oldest and most faithful servants, James Cardinal Gibbons.

Father Charles Bonzano, apostolic delegate at Washington, celebrated pontifical mass, chanting music never before heard outside the Sister's chapel.

Archbishop John J. Glennon, of St.
Louis, delivered the funeral sermon.
During his eulogy of the dead there remained scarcely a dry eye among his hearers, whose memorials went back to the kindly, gentle old man who led with power of spirit as well as power of mind.

Like Middle Age Scene.
The service was like a scene from the middle ages—like an altar-piece come to life. Numerous priests in a seemingly endless procession filed into the church and in their stately robes of the varied colors of their orders moved forward to the catafal-que on which rested the late Cardinal in his archbishop vestments of purple. In a few moments the body of the church was filled with this army of clergy and the atmosphere of the twentieth century was dispelled.

There was a harmony of color and sound as the light of the candles around the bier fell on the brilliant ceremonial robes of the priests and the auditorium echoed to the measured rhythm of chanted prayers.
Quoting Ecclesiasticus 44: 1-3-14.
In beginning, Archbishop John J.
Glennon, of St. Louis delivered the funeral sermon at the bier of the late James Cardinal Gibbons here.

"Let us now praise men of renown, and our fathers in their generation.
Such as have borne rule in their dominions, men of greater power,
and imbued with their wisdom, showing forth in the prophets the dignity of prophets.
And ruling over his present
people and by the strength of wisdom, instructing the people in most holy words.
Their bodies are buried in peace, and their name liveth unto generation and generation."
(Ecclesiasticus 44: 1-3-4-11)

"I knew not what thoughts to express, or words to clothe them in on this solemn occasion, as we group around this mound of sorrow, to bid a last farewell to our father and our friend," said Archbishop Glennon.
"Words of protest, some may say since it is nature's way to protest against death, to treat it as an enemy of our race and us, yet we who are believers in a merciful Providence that wisely, justly disposes all things, the Master, of Life and Death, holding the living and the dead equally in His keeping, we who would also be his children, can only bow in lowliest reverence to His Supreme decree."

"Though modest man, he knows not why
He thinks he was not made to die
And thou hast made him—Thou are just."

"But if we may not protest, may we not at least voice our regrets? Ought we not to sorrow and speak that sorrow so deep and widespread today, for the prophet also is silent—for the prince who has fallen—for the man who is gone?"

Beyond our own hearts' promptings we have for it as examples
the noblest names in history. "Jacob mourning for his son many days, the congregation mourned for Aaron; and Samuel for Saul; while David's plaints and tears were his daily offering to the memory of his son Abisalam. And of the Blessed Master, now, when they brought him news
that Lazarus, His Friend, was dead, St. John records the love and the tears of Christ—And Jesus wept."

"With these Examples before us, of friend sorrowing for friends, and if again sorrow is to be measured by the merits of the dead and the extent of loss, then difficult must it be for us to suppress our emotions as we ponder over the life, the love, the service, the sacrifice of James Cardinal Gibbons, Archbishop of Baltimore. These are high sounding titles, you will say, meaning such of dignity and power; but just now our thoughts do rather turn to the kindly gentle old man, whose coming was joy—whose presence was a benediction."

VOTE A RECALL

Devils Lake, March 31.—Political factions of North Dakota opposed to Townleyism by a vote at 4:10 p. m.
today ordered on or before November 8 that a Recall election be held in North Dakota. Further details to be worked out later. The recall election as ordered is directed against only Governor Lynn J. Frazier, Attorney General William Lemke, Commissioner of Agriculture J. N.
Hagen.

This is the first time in the history of the United States that a recall election has been ordered against a governor or other high state officials, delegates asserted.
"The brain child of the socialistic program, the recall having been placed on the statute books of North Dakota by the Non-Partisans, has grown up in four years and threatens to destroy its parent," Theodore G. Nelson, Secretary of the Independent Voters Association said.

SEES TEST VOTE

Devils Lake, March 31.—A resolution to place the control of the anti-Townley forces in a new committee with men and women on a 50-50 basis was defeated 408 to 130.

Dan Richter termed this a test vote on the recall and saw it as favorable to the recall. The resolution was offered by Mrs.
Mrs. Strand of Dickey County. L. L. Twitchell's resolution to order a recall, was being debated at 3:45 p. m.

(By Associated Press)

Devils Lake N. D., March 31.—A resolution was presented to the convention by the Fargo delegation this morning providing:
That there be a recall election early in November.

That a constitutional limit of $7,750,000 for issuing new state bonds be established with the exception of real estate bonds.
That $5,000,000 bonds be issued to retire bank of North Dakota bonds and to pay up its debts.

That $2,500,000 of bonds be issued to give the mill and elevator association program a fair trial.

That constitutional amendment be voted on to make bonds direct obligations of the state so as to make them saleable.

That bonds of $250,000 be issued to retire home building association bonds, pay its debts and wind up its affairs.

A recall election to be ordered for about November 8 and to be directed against Governor Lynn J. Frazier, Attorney General William Lemke and Commissioner of Agriculture at Labor-
J. N. Hagen appeared to be the solution to be agreed on by the delegates of Anti-Townley forces when the convention began its second day of deliberation at 9 a. m. today.

Caucus on Plan

This program was decided on at a caucus held early this morning by several groups of independent forces and was to be submitted to the convention. No vote on the recall until afternoon was forecast by Theo G.
Nelson Secretary of the Independent Voters Association.

All plans to attempt to recall all non-partisan officials, including three superior court justices, appeared to have been abandoned, but the proposed initiative measures on operation of the state owned industries and to make impossible the sale of more bonds by the present Nonpartisan administration before a recall likely will be submitted as well as a constitutional amendment to make the bonds of North Dakota direct obligations on the credit of the entire state instead of on the industries as at present.
It is thought such an amendment would make the state bonds marketable and would give the independents control.

Anti-recall advocates tell us we should let the Non-partisans fry in their own fat. Treadwell Twitchell of Fargo, said in a plea for a recall
"However we are in that fat and on that same fire with them. North Dakota is ill, mentally and physically and I see the recall as the successful instrument for an operation to remove the source of that trouble."

S. J. Doyle of Fargo summed up the charges against the Non-partisan administration. The Non-partisan officials have betrayed the trust of the state and have robbed our institutions, Doyle asserted.

Speculation Under Ban

While speculation is under the ban as to the probable choice of candidates to be nominated by the independent voters of the state in case the recall is ordered, R. A. Nestos, of Minot, appeared to be in greatest favor among independent voters' association leaders as the choice for candidate of the Independent forces.

Tom Hall, Sec'y of State also J.
Gronna of Lakota, who was defeated for re-election as United States Senator by Dr. E. F. Ladd, of Fargo J. F.
T. O'Connor of Grand Forks, candidate of the Independents for governor last fall and who was defeated by Governor Frazier by less than 1,000 votes and former Judge W. C. Crawford of Dickinson were mentioned as other possibilities for the nomination as governor.

George Schater of Watford City, who is secretary of the present convention, Charles Fisk of Minot, Ind-W. C. Crawford of Dickinson, and Frank Fisk of Williston were mentioned as the probabilities for candidate as Attorney General. No other talk as to possibilities has been heard in convention quarters.

PLAYMAKERS OF UNIVERSITY TO APPEAR FRIDAY

Cast Which is Winning Unusual Honors in State to Appear in Bismarck

Arrangements have been completed for the appearance here of the Dakota Playmakers of the University of North Dakota in the popular romantic comedy "A Rose o' Plymouth Town." This dramatic society has achieved a fame covering many states and is considered one of the foremost amateur players' organizations in the country. This is the first time that a state tour has been planned by them, and their coming to Bismarck on the night of April 1st has occasioned no small amount of interest.

This play of love and laughter was given recently by the Playmakers as their annual spring production at the Metropolitan Theatre in Grand Forks before a capacity house. It was chosen as a part of the celebration of the Pilgrim Tercentenary which is being observed all over the United States. That the selection was a happy one was proven before the first act of the play had for progressed. The huge audience rocked with laughter, and the bursts of spontaneous mirth that the lines and action of the play provoked gave a new insight into the everyday life of the "grim Puritans" and the sturdy Pilgrims and went far to establish a human relationship between the modern Americans and the founders of their country.

But it was not all laughter. The deep tragedy of a thwarted lover runs through the play and seems about to blight forever the life of the happy-hearted Rose of Plymouth and her hero. There was a duel, fought with such intensity of hate and jealousy that women held their breath. Later an Indian attack on Plymouth lent a note of terror to the play and showed the constant danger in which the Pilgrims lived.

In reviewing the production the next morning the dramatic critic of the Grand Forks Herald, George A. Benson, said it was the best work the Playmakers had ever done. That is high praise in view of the society's past record. However Mr. Benson, who has reviewed the annual productions of this organization for the past ten years, was very positive in his statements regarding the artistic superiority of this year's offering over all those which had preceded it.

The Playmakers are making a tour of the principal cities of the state during the spring vacation. The original cast of the play will appear here under the direction of Professor Franz Rickaby, director of the Playmakers, and Mrs. John B. Cooley, coach.

TO THE VOTERS OF THE CITY OF BISMARCK:

Ladies and Gentlemen:

The undersigned candidates for membership on the city commission, wish to present their views on the present needs of the city and their stand on the principal issues affecting the welfare, happiness and prosperity of the people.

In our opinion, the most important issue confronting the voters at the coming election is economy in the management of city affairs and to this we pledge our utmost efforts.

The burden of taxation has become so grievous that even citizens most enthusiastic about public improvements feel that a halt must be called and future progress must only be made as finances based on a reasonable tax rate will allow.

We feel that the present high rate of taxation and depleted treasury of the city are not altogether due to improvements made, but in part to inefficient management on the part of city officials in causing useless expenditures. The practice of paying city officials high salaries and then employing and paying other men to do part of their work, or paying large commissions to officials in addition to their salaries is especially to be condemned.

The present city attorney is being paid a higher salary, $1800 per year, than any city attorney who preceded him and, yet, $3708.92 have been paid to other attorneys within the past two years for legal assistance rendered the city, in doing a portion of the official work of the city attorney's office, and other expenses accrued and accruing in an unknown amount along the same line will have to be paid. This practice should be discontinued and the city attorney to be appointed should be required to perform the legal work of the city, and fruitless and useless agitation and litigation avoided.

The letting of a contract in connection with city work on a commission basis or otherwise to a paid official and especially without competition is clearly contrary to public policy and we believe unlawful.

The matter of public parks, playgrounds, swimming pools and welfare work generally is of the utmost importance in our city, but unfortunately not much can be done without money, which at the present time the city does not possess. If the money that has been wasted in futile agitation and court proceedings during the past year had been used as was promised, in caring for the health and recreation of our children, Bismarck would have been well advanced in this work.

We gladly pledge our earnest and best efforts to cooperate with clubs and societies interested in the establishment of recreation grounds, and like institutions. With what financial aid the city may be able to give and united volunteer effort, a creditable beginning can at least be made and an organization formed that will continue the good work.

It hardly seems necessary to go into the water question, as most of our citizens know the animus that prompts the attacks on citizens who think that the question of a water company being compelled to comply with its contract with the city should be settled in a business way.

The subscribers are in favor of a municipal ownership of the water works and other public utilities to be acquired at such time as the money market and financial condition of the city will permit. Until such time arrives, the water company should be required to perform its part of the contract and to furnish pure and safe water and sufficient pressure for fire purposes.

As stated, we favor taking steps at the proper time to provide a municipal water supply, but are decidedly not in favor of further looting the city treasury and adding to the already unbearable burden of the tax payers, by hiring one set of corporation attorneys to fight another.

If honored by the voters by election to the city commission, we pledge our individual and united efforts to work for the best interests of the people and city of Bismarck and repeat that our first and greatest efforts will be for an economical administration of municipal affairs.

Dated March 30, 1921.

LEASE MILL AND ELEVATOR TO FARMERS

President Farm Bureau Federation Urges Renting of State Institution

WOULD RELIEVE STATE

Eliminate Political Differences, Sell Bonds and Complete Projects

Fargo, N. D., March 30.—Completion of the mill and elevator at Grand Forks is urged by Usher L. Burdick, president of the North Dakota Farm Bureau federation in a statement issued yesterday, and he expressed the need of having the new enterprise ready to assist in the marketing plan of the committee of 17 next fall. The statement follows:

Bureau Not Connected
"In expressing my views on this subject, I wish to be understood as not binding in anyway the North Dakota Farm Bureau federation, but merely outlining what I personally think of the matter."
"The state elevator and mill at Grand Forks is partly completed. Something close to a million dollars has already been put into the venture by the State of North Dakota. The mill and elevator is well planned and if completed will be of great value to the people of North Dakota under the proposed plan of selling grain. We cannot go on and leave it uncompleted and thereby lose what we have already invested. It should be completed and that should be done in time to make the mill and elevator available for the crop of 1921."

Lease to Sales Agency
"After the mill and elevator is completed the State of North Dakota should then lease it to the National Sales agency, to be adopted at the farmers conference at Chicago on April 8. This institution will then become an integral and valuable part of the plan outlined by the committee of 17 for the handling of grain. The money spent already will not then be lost and the state can make such terms in leasing as shall be fair both to the state and the National Sales agency. If this plan is followed it will relieve the state of North Dakota from losing what it has already invested or of going into the actual business of handling grain and will at the same time provide a powerful aid to the plan of the National Sales agency to be conducted by the directorship of 31 farmers of America."
"Had the National Sales agency plan been in operation during the season of 1920 the cost price of grain could have been obtained for at least 600,000,000 bushels of our wheat. Our wheat in North Dakota for the year of 1920 was about 65,000,000 bushels. Our best available records show wheat in 1920 to have cost $2.44 per bushel. We have sold the most part of our 1920 crop for about $1.00 less than the cost of production. It is no idle statement then to say that we have lost on our 1920 wheat crop 40 times as much money as the State of North Dakota now has invested in the mill and elevator."

Should Sell Bonds
"The bonds of the mill and elevator should be sold at once and if the people of North Dakota will unite in doing this the bonds can be sold. Let us on this venture just eliminate political differences and put the mill and elevator over. On this great big question we should not be penny wise and pound foolish. Every grain grower should take off his coat and get into the game of putting over the completion of the mill and elevator."

Fords Run 34 Miles on Gallon Gasoline

Start Easy in Coldest Weather—Old Cars Show Proportionate Savings.

A new carburetor which cuts down gasoline consumption of any motor and reduces gasoline bills from one-third to one-half is the proud achievement of the Air-Friction Carburetor Co., 738 Madison St., Dayton, Ohio. This remarkable invention not only increases the power of all motors from 30 to 50 percent, but enables every one to run slow on high gear. It also makes it easy to start a Ford or any other car in the coldest weather. You can use the very cheapest grade of gasoline or half gasoline and half kerosene and still get more power and more mileage than you now get from the highest test gasoline. Many Ford owners say they now get as high as 45 to 50 miles to a gallon.

Physician Explains Who Should Take Nuxated Iron Practical Advice on How To Help Build Up Great Strength, Energy and Endurance.

"Lack of iron in the blood not only makes a man a physical and mental weakling, nervous, irritable, easily fatigued, but it utterly robs him of that vital force, that stamina and strength of will which are so necessary to success and power in every walk of life," says Dr. James Francis Sullivan, formerly physician of Bellevue Hospital (Outdoor Dept.), New York, and the Westchester County Hospital. "It may also transform a beautiful, sweet-tempered woman into one who is cross, nervous and irritable. I have strongly emphasized the great necessity of physicians making blood examinations of their weak, anemic, run-down patients. Thousands of persons go on year after year suffering from physical weakness and a slightly nervous condition due to lack of sufficient iron in their red blood corpuscles without ever realizing the real cause of their trouble. Without iron in your blood your food merely passes through the body something like corn through an old mill with rollers so wide apart that the mill can't grind. For want of iron you may be an old man at thirty, suffer from indigestion, feel miserable and all run down, while at 45 or 50 with plenty of iron in your blood you may still be young in feeling, full of life, your whole being brimming over with vim and energy."

THREE EPOCHS IN WOMAN'S LIFE.

There are three critical stages in a woman's life which leave their mark on her career—the first when she changes from a care-free girl to a woman, the second motherhood, and the third is change of life. Most of the misery which comes to women through ill health dates from one or another of these periods, but women should remember that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a reliable remedy and has been very successful in overcoming the ailments which may come to them at these times, as it is a natural restorative for such conditions. To the voters of the City of Bismarck

The Bismarck Water Supply Company has had called to its attention a printed circular under date of March 25th, 1921, setting forth the views of certain candidates for the City Commission with reference to the Bismarck Water Supply Company and their candidacy at the coming city election. To the end that the voters of the City may not be misinformed as to the position of the Bismarck Water Supply Company with reference to the issues of the coming election it now makes the following plain statement:

The Bismarck Water Supply Company had no part in bringing about the candidacy of any candidate at the coming election. Not one of the candidates is under any obligation to the water company. The Bismarck Water Supply Company will ask only fair treatment from the candidates after election, and so far as it is advised none of the candidates, after election, can grant the water company any favors, if they wished to do so, for reasons as follows:

The matter of fixing rates for water is exclusively within the jurisdiction of the Railroad Commission of the State of North Dakota, not of the City Commission. The question of needed improvements, practices and usage of the Company with reference to fire protection, filtration, services, connections, and all police requirements is exclusively within the jurisdiction of the railroad commission and not the City Commission.

The water company calls especial attention and quotes the following from said circular:

"We believe the City should own and operate its own water system and with this in mind, we believe the city should purchase the plant of the Bismarck Water Supply Company at a reasonable price, when financial and business conditions will permit, and after purchase to remodel and add to the plant such parts and equipment needed to furnish clean and wholesome water and ample fire protection, at actual cost to the city and its inhabitants."

In the event of failure to obtain the plant of the Bismarck Water Supply Company at a reasonable price, we believe the City should proceed to complete and install a complete new water system as soon as the financial and business conditions warrant it."

Answering the views of the aforesaid candidates, the Bismarck Water Supply Company will make plain its position with reference thereto. The Bismarck Water Supply Company is and has been ready to sell to the City of Bismarck its water plant at a reasonable, fair price. There are only two methods by which the City of Bismarck can acquire the water plant: One, by arbitration as provided in its charter, which the City and the water company have both subscribed and agreed to, under which the city will appoint one arbitrator, the water company one, and those two will appoint a third; and if they cannot agree on the third, then the third arbitrator is to be appointed by the Judge of the United States District Court of North Dakota; Second, by a suit in court to condemn the plant, in which the price will be fixed by a jury of twelve men. This second method can now be used under a new law passed by the recent legislature. Either of the two methods is entirely satisfactory to the water company. In other words if the City of Bismarck wishes to purchase the water plant the water company is ready and willing to have the price fixed either by arbitration by a committee of three as provided in the charter, or by a jury of twelve men selected in court. Therefore, the water company falls to see where in it is an issue in the coming campaign.

There is still pending in the courts, against the water company, in which the City of Bismarck is plaintiff, two lawsuits, one to cancel its charter, and one contesting the valuation of its property as fixed by the railroad commission. Until such suits are finally disposed of the Company is prevented from either making improvements or having a policy.

In conclusion the water company hopes that the voters of the City of Bismarck will vote for such of the candidates as in their judgment will serve the best interests of the city, without reference to the water company.

Oh How Glorious to Be Free From Rheumatism's Tortures!

Just suppose you could be free from your despoiled, agonizing rheumatic aches and pains, your stiff joints and unsightly swellings! Wouldn't you give anything to get rid of them?

You have doubtless rubbed on outside treatments; most rheumatism sufferers have. Some of these take the edge off the terrible pains for a few hours, but they do not strike at the cause, which nearly always lies in the poisoned, impoverished blood. When this is so, you need an internal remedy, one that will take out the impurities that are torturing you, one like famous S.S.S., which has relieved thousands of cases of rheumatism all over the country just this way.

Get S.S.S. from your druggist today, and after starting with it write us a history of your case, addressing Chief Medical Advisor, 877 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Georgia.

McLEAN COUNTY FORMS BUREAU
An organization committee consisting of the following farmers has been appointed which will have charge of the organization work in the county of the Farm Bureau Federation: Albert Peterson, Washburn; W. H. Albert, Washburn; Ben O. Svensen, Washburn; B. Westberg, Douglas; C. J. Walker, Rydal; Stanton Lee, Rydal; Hans Skeltan, Roseglen; Ben Wibel, Douglas; A. J. Stoven, Roseglen; J. J. Hill, Sr. Roseglen; Forest Theobald, Rydal; Frank Westmiller, Washburn; Hubert Holtan, Fulkirk; Ira Houtcouper, Garrison.
The committee is determined to make the McLean County Farm Bureau one of the best in the 43 states now organized. They can do this if they can have co-operation and support of every farmer in McLean county. The committee has faith in the Farm Bureau because it is not out to fight or put any other farmers' organization out of business but instead it is the organization which has for the first time gotten the wheat growers of the north, the cotton growers of the south, and the fruit growers of the west to join in one great Farm Bureau organization which is now organized in 43 states and has a membership of 1,600,000 farmer members.

THE TALE OF A MULE
Seven - Year Court Fight Is Waged Over Him
By Newspaper Enterprise.
Chicago, March 31.—Seven years ago J. R. Morris, a director of the Peoples Gas Co., had a mule on his country estate near Lake Forest, a millionaire suburb.
J. F. Doyle, retired business man who lived on the adjoining estate, had 16 mules.
Morris' mule was thin and anemic. Doyle's mules were fat and contented. So the owners agreed that Morris' mule should board for a few months in Doyle's fertile pastures.
Time came for the return. Morris picked out a mule. He said it was his. Doyle said it wasn't.
The two went to court over the mule which was worth $225.
For seven years the case has dragged through the lower courts, being appealed time and time again by one or the other of the men. Meanwhile the mule died in disgust.
The case is now before Appellate Court. It has cost the taxpayers an average of $250 a day while being thrashed out.

behind which the women voters of the state as well as the men could get, was urged at the state convention of forces opposed to the Non-partisan league by Mrs. Mary Strand, of Dickey county, last night.
"The women want to work shoulder to shoulder with the men on a 50-50 basis," she said. "We will not ask for any offices, but demand the best men you can produce. We demand a new and a square deal. I am not in favor of the recall at present, however."
Minnie J. Nielson, state superintendent of instruction, was the party on whose the Non-partisan league was wrecked and swept socialist propaganda out of our schools.
Other Women Speak
Mrs. H. P. Arnold, of Fargo, Mrs. W. A. McIntyre, of Grand Forks, and Mrs. Shipley of Steele, also made maiden speeches as women delegates to a political convention in North Dakota. She told how the state's credit has been destroyed so a loan of $7,000 on property worth $20,000 was unobtainable.
They were evenly divided as far as favoring recall but advised that the questions before the convention should be weighed carefully before any action should be taken.
Langer Not Active
T. Nelson, of Valer, and several other speakers warned against the recall at the present time, asserting that few if any votes have been changed as yet and declaring that they do not believe that the recall could be put across successfully.
John E. Paulson, of Hillsboro, who urged that an effort be made to recall Governor Frazier, Attorney General Wm. Lemke and Commissioner of Agriculture J. N. Hagan on November 8, 1921, also had many followers.
William Langer, former Attorney General who conducted the "raid" on the Scandinavian American bank of Fargo in 1915 attended the sessions but took no active part.

MISS BAKER IS BRIDE IN EARLY MORNING WEDDING

Allier E. Mueller, of Lady Smith, Wis. and Miss Margaret Baker daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Baker of 216 Ninth street, were united in marriage at St. Mary's church at 8:30 o'clock this morning. The bride was charmingly attired in a traveling suit of navy serge and carried a bouquet of white roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Helen Baker, sister of the bride, was gowned in navy chambray and wore a corsage bouquet. Peter Baker, brother of the groom, attended the bride. Father John O. Slag officiated. Following the ceremony a four-course wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride, immediately after the ceremony. Relatives and a few friends being guests. Mrs. Chris Paulson, of Linton was an out-of-town guest.

The young couple left on the afternoon train for Hazelton to visit relatives and friends before leaving for their home in Wisconsin.

THEATER AND CARD PARTIES.

The opening of the social season followed Easter has been ushered in with plays and small card parties chiefly. Many people attended the local talent play on Tuesday evening and several small parties were made up to attend the University Play. "A Rose O' Plymouth Town" at the auditorium on Friday evening. Plans are on to have all former University of North Dakota people assemble in a section of the auditorium, displaying the university colors, rose and green. The university colors are characteristic of the state in that the colors were selected from the wild rose, later to be one the state flower. Beside the many Bismarck people who are formerly from the university, there are many in Mandan who will doubtless come over to join the reunion.

In card parties there have been the Monday Bridge, the Tuesday "B. T." club and the Wednesday Bridge club. The Thursday Card club has postponed.

$12,000 HEART BALM IS GIVEN TO HOUSEKEEPER

Miss Pickle, of Walsh County, to Salt Away Big Sum From John Anton

Devil's Lake, N. D., March 31.—It has thus far cost John Anton of Duluth, Nelson county $12,000 for discharging the sweet affection of one Miss Pickle now of Walsh county but formerly Anton's housekeeper. A jury in Lakota last week gave Miss Pickle a verdict of $12,000 in her suit against Anton for false imprisonment. Two years ago Miss Pickle collected $8,000 from Anton after she sued him for breach of promise. Miss Pickle came to Anton as a housekeeper. They became engaged to be married, but later Anton married someone else and had Miss Pickle confined in jail a being insane. She spent about six days in jail, and was released after the insanity commission found that there was nothing the matter with her mind. She sued Anton for $15,000 on the breach of promise suit and another $15,000 on the false imprisonment complaint, collecting on the two $12,000. Fred

C. Cuthbert was Miss Pickle's attorney in both cases and Tracy Bangs of Grand Forks appeared for Anton. Mr. Cuthbert also defended Miss Agnes Nelson of Minneapolis, a trapped nurse, in a breach of promise suit against Chas. Walcott of Pekin, N. D., at the same term of court in La Reine. Mrs. Nelson sued Walcott for $25,000 for playing with her affection and the jury awarded her a verdict of $15,000.

WHAT OUR RICH PAY U. S. TAX COLLECTOR

John D. Rockefeller Leads List; 28 Have $2,000,000 Income

BY WHIT HADLEY
New York, March 31. Did you know that two men in the United States confessed to the collector of internal revenue, "Big Bill" Edwards, that their net personal incomes last year were in excess of three million dollars? Did you know that John D. Rockefeller not only had a personal income of sixty million dollars, but drew a check for $18,400,000 and mailed it to the government as his income tax contribution?

Some amazing figures, running close to the billion dollar mark, are made public by Edwards through official reports now in the hands of the commissioner of internal revenue at Washington.

28 Huge Incomes
Twenty-eight gentlemen admitted, it seems, having incomes during 1920 of $2,000,000 up, while 1,000 others said languidly they received between a million and a half and two millions.

The late J. C. Frick had $11,250,000 income and out of it the government got $7,160,000.

Two other men trafficked about with seven million and a half and each paid the government $4,800,000. They were George J. Baker and William Rockefeller.

Edward S. Harkness and J. Ogden Armour were taxed to the tune of $6,250,000. They paid the government a flat four million each, while Henry Ford and W. K. Vanderbilt as well as Edward H. R. Green having each five million dollars in their hands during the year disposed of $4,250,000 of it by sending it to the government in the form of a cashed check.

These figures appear as personal incomes and do not, of course, represent the staggering principles that yielded so golden a flow.

If you example, Rockefeller's net income was sixty million dollars and this sum represented only 6 per cent interest on the principle, the principle itself must have been one million dollars.

In like fashion Frick must have had a capital of $187,500,000 to return him $1,250,000 in interest.

The records announce that 28 of the richest taxpayers are scattered. About 11 came from New York, two from Delaware, one from Michigan, one from Ohio, two from Pennsylvania, one from Rhode Island, two from Texas and five from Massachusetts.

Astor Stipend
Vincent Astor's income amounted to $3,750,000 during 1920, and he paid a tax of $2,400,000.

James A. Stillman president of the National City Bank as well as Thomas F. Ryan, Daniel Guggenheim, Charles M. Schwab, J. P. Morgan and Joseph Widener had an estimated income of $3,250,000, and paid approximately $2,400,000 as an income tax.

Henry Phillips, however, and James R. Burke like Jacob H. Schiff and Pierre S. du Pont, had incomes slightly in excess of $2,000,000 and were required to pay over $1,600,000 as a result.

Doing Fairly Well
Of 175 who had net incomes of $500,000 to $1,000,000, 46 made from $750,000 to $1,000,000 and 112 corralled between $500,000 and $750,000.

The average tax paid by each person in the country who was subject to tax amounted to $254.87 and the average tax rate was 7.08.

You can have pretty dresses too-- and at little cost--if you make them yourselves.

Many women are sewing this season who have never sewed before. In fact, there seems to be a very general "home sewing wave." Materials are so much cheaper than last year—and you don't need a great amount of goods, either. Styles are simple and patterns easy to follow.

Five yards is the average number of yards required to make a dress this season. There are any number of lovely materials in this store at from 25c to 95c a yard—five yards brings the cost of the material from $1.25 to $4.75. Add to this 35c for a pattern and the small amount for thread, buttons, etc., and you've a mighty inexpensive dress. It's worth trying, anyway, isn't it?

THE LAST MOHICAN

One of his boyhood days that a fellow remembers best was that memorable one on which he leaped from cliff to cliff with Uncas the last of the Mohicans until Uncas perished at the hands of the miserable redskin, Magua.

Boys today do not know Uncas as intimately as their fathers did. Thousands are not acquainted with him at all, because they go to the movies for their thrills rather than to books. So, not knowing Uncas, they do not know the unalloyed joy their fathers felt in the fraternal company of this red man whom James Fenimore Cooper ennobled.

For genuine comradeship with the last of the Mohicans it was necessary to retire to some far-off nook in the house where one could not be interrupted by mother who invariably wanted one to go to the grocery or chop wood or something at the most exciting part of the story.

One could keep on reading without stopping to eat, or sleep, or even to play ball or marbles.

And in those days when there was nothing else to worry a fellow, life's darkest moment came in the last chapter when Uncas, pursuing Magua who had captured Cora, falls from a cliff and lands at the feet of his arch enemy who buries a tomahawk in his back.

But happily the vile murderer's joy is short-lived. Just as he is about to leap to safety, the rifle of Hawk-eye, the scout, rings out and Magua falls into the canyon.

Those were the days, old-timer, and let us lay a wreath of friendly remembrance on the tomb of James Fenimore Cooper, the author, the 70th anniversary of whose death is observed this year.

TO MAKE FACTORIES HUM

The steady dwindling of our foreign trade is one reason why so many men are out of work. Other countries want our goods—billions of dollars worth—just as much as we want their orders.

But they can't pay.

Bankers have wrestled with the problem. They've formed a $100,000,000 company to finance exports, but this will be slow in functioning and its possibilities are overestimated, according to big exporters.

The result of this situation, says John McHugh, New York banker, is that our foreign trade is going on a primitive barter basis.

The barter works like this: Cotton growers formed the Mississippi Delta Export and Trading Company. Their first shipment is 50,000 bales of cotton. It's sent to an American agent in Hamburg. He distributes it to textile mills in Germany and Czechoslovakia. These mills turn the raw cotton into finished goods, a satisfactory portion of which is sent back to Mississippi to pay for the cotton.

An American manufacturer of electrical equipment is shipping his wares to Europe and getting bristles and eggs in return. Another manufactured swaps American pottery for Japanese silk.

This system of barter, or swapping, is taking us back a good many thousand years, to the days before money was invented as a medium of exchange.

It seems primitive, but export trade is an ultimate loss unless we eventually balance our books by getting back an equivalent amount of commodities in the form of imports.

Gold received in foreign trade is merely a note calling for reciprocal shipments of imports in the future.

You can't eat gold.

WHO'S WHO AT HOME?

A woman's club in Washington, D. C., has launched a Keep-Your-Maiden-Name movement.

The purpose thereof is to create a public sentiment in favor of permitting married women to retain the names they were born with, rather than take the names their husbands give them. Thus, when Mary Jones marries John Smith she will be known as Mrs. Mary Jones and not as Mrs. John Smith.

The Keep-Your-Maiden-Name movement is in token of the new equality. The custom whereby Mary Jones becomes Mrs. John Smith is regarded as a survival of the benighted time when wives were held as chattel, whereas now they are supposed to be partners, sharing equally in the property and social rights of their husbands.

Why, ask the proponents of the new order, should a woman be expected to take her husband's name? They argue that to require a woman to do so is quite as unfair, not to say as unseemly, as it would be to ask John Smith to become Mr. Mary Jones when he married the young lady of that name.

The argument is difficult to answer. However, there are those who may reply that having promised to honor as well as love and obey, her husband, the least a woman can do to honor the fellow is to adorn herself with his name.

And others may inquire which name the children will take if mother keeps her name and father his. Will the girls take mama's maiden name Jones, while the boys grow up to be Smiths, like papa?

But the girls may not like mama's name if it happens to be Toodles, or Tiddledewinks, or Jazzbo, or something like that. Will they then insist on taking papa's prettier name?

Plainly the need for peace in families argues in favor of the maintenance of the old custom of labeling wives with the names of their husbands, even if the requirements of the new equality seem to argue otherwise.

What do you think about it, Mr. and Mrs. Reader?

HORNS ON HIS HEAD

A horn five inches long is removed from the head of Lee Wilson, Baltimore negro. Doctors Kelly and Culverhouse, who performed the interesting operation, call the horn a cornucornutum, that being its name in medical science. The horn looked like a large round fingernail and grew from the scalp not the skull.

It's a rare disease, say the doctors, which is cheering, though it might not be a bad arrangement if horns would sprout to identify those who really deserve them.

Scientists will be much interested in Lee Wilson's horn. Probably they'll write learned treatises, claiming it's a reversion to type—that our ancestors all had horns. Evolutionists say that the rough edges of your ear tops are remnants of ancient days when a man had long ears like a donkey.

Lee Wilson, prior to the operation, must have had many followers who believed he had voodoo powers. If he had lived a thousand or so years ago, he would have been generally hailed as a witch doctor—probably made king.

Nowadays we turn our weird brethren over to the surgeons or the circuses.

Man isn't as afraid of anything new as he used to be.

EDITORIAL REVIEW

Comments reproduced in this column may or may not express the opinion of The Tribune. They are set here in order that our readers may have both sides of important issues which are being discussed in the press of the day.

AN INDECISIVE REFERENDUM

With the approach of the time when Congress must engage the subject of tax revision—whether before or after it has disposed of the stormy question of an emergency tariff measure—there is renewed discussion of the principal means to be adopted to secure the revenue needed and a revival of the sales tax proposition. The term "sales tax" is so vague as to carry little meaning, but in this connection it refers to all types, including a general turnover tax, a limited turnover tax or a retail sales tax. The very fact that the term is vague is the evidence that the consideration itself is indefinite and public sentiment uncrystallized, largely through a lack of understanding of what is contemplated.

Public opinion in favor of a sales tax was checked back by the announcement that the Chamber of Commerce of the United States—the congress of the various civic and commerce bodies—had decided by referendum against it. It is not an accurate statement, however, to say this course was taken. The referendum was so involved that a correct reflection of opinion was not taken and was scarcely possible. The various member organizations voted overwhelmingly in favor of repealing the excess profits tax and opposing the principle of substituting for this tax a heavier impost on incomes, suggesting that the needed revenue come through excise taxes laid upon "some articles of wide use but not of first necessity."

But in asking for views on a sales tax, the question was not put squarely. Instead of asking "Do you favor a sales tax?" it was asked whether a sales tax should be levied instead of income taxes or new excise taxes, and whether it should be levied in addition to such taxes. To both of these questions the member bodies voted negatively, by very small majorities. It is at least an open question how the business organizations would have voted on an uninvolved question for or against a sales tax, not mixed up with other questions.

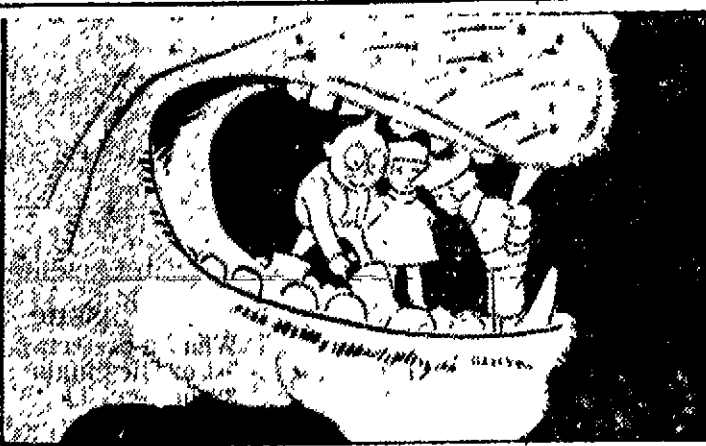

It is not suggested that member bodies were purposely deprived of the opportunity of expression, but if such had been the studious purpose it could not have been made effective. Any analysis of the vote must show a favor for the sales tax that is concealed in the figures as they were necessarily recorded. Inasmuch as members of the chamber have challenged the impression that has been created by the announcement of the referendum, it would seem to leave but one course open—to resubmit the question in clear and uninvolved form, so that the answer when it comes will have an unmistakable meaning.—St. Paul Pioneer Press.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

By Olive Barton Roberts

Flippety-Flapp put the brown medicine in the tooth.

Lumpy Lion held his mouth wide open while Flippety-Flap, the fairyman, and Nancy and Nick (small as green peas) hopped in and looked for the aching tooth. They found it at once because it had a great hole in it. No wonder it was aching! Isn't it queer that the less there is of a tooth, the bigger the pain usually is?

Flippety-Flap put the brown medicine on the soft white cotton and put it gently into the hole and pressed it down. All the while Mr. and Mrs. Lion stood by in their nightgowns, watching everything.

"Oooooo!" nodded Lumpy drowsily. "That feels good! Oh, I'm so much obliged!" And he fell asleep so quickly, closing his mouth of course, that the children and their little friend scarcely had time to hop out.

"Fine work," said Mr. Lion. "How much will you take for that bottle, mister?"

Flippety-Flap put the bottle back into his shoe. "It's not for sale, sir! I got it from Dr. Jones, the circus dentist, and he won't let me sell it."

"Too bad!" sighed Mr. Lion yawning. "But thanks just the same. Now L.L., lets try and get some sleep. Good night, sir!" Good-night, ma'am! Good-night, other sir!" And Mr. Lion rambled off to his bed of soft rocks on the hard sand, no soft sand, near the hard rocks.

But Mrs. Lion stayed a minute.

—In so anxious to teach Lumpy and Lily some circus tricks," said she. "Would you by any chance, know where I could get a see-saw? Or a ladder with steps on both sides? Or a large ball? Or some chairs to jump over? Or a hoop? Or a "

"Don't worry, madam," remarked

I am a Nonpartisan but not a leaguer. I never joined the league or the I. V. A. I knew the man who started the league from a boy. He and two others came into our town and wanted the city hall to hold a meeting. The mayor told them the hall was engaged for all the week to parties who were holding meetings, and he could not let them have it. They did not want to pay out any money so they held a meeting on the street corner. The mayor and others told me it was an I. W. W. speech and I was told by a person that Bowen was an I. W. W. organizer and was drawing a salary as such at that time. The league has turned out just as I thought it would and the farmers and taxpayers are paying the freight. I came to North Dakota when it was a territory and I know something about the political situation and it became a state. I never saw the state in as bad shape politically as it is now. The very

STOMACH UPSET?

Get at the Real Cause—Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, away goes indigestion and stomach troubles.

Have you a bad taste, coated tongue, poor appetite, a lazy, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, trouble with undigested foods? Take Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color. They do the work without griping, cramps or pain.

Take one or two for quick relief. Eat what you like. 15c and 30c.

name "Nonpartisan league" is a fraud and inconsistency. "Partisan league" would be more consistent. If they were nonpartisan why did they oppose all nonpolitical legislation. We had the supreme court and schools on a nonpolitical basis. As soon as they came in they went to endorsing candidates and putting them on a political basis.

Who is paying for all this advertising the Industrial Commission is putting out—whole page ads at a cost of $1,500 to $1,700 a week. Who gets the benefit—Frazier, Lemke and Hagan are the Industrial Commission and I am told Hagan said Lemke opposed it and he and Frazier pushed it on and agreed to it and they could use $180,000 so far as he was concerned. Now any law that lets a political party use public funds for political purposes should be unconstitutional and any person who uses public funds for political purposes should be punished.

I am not in favor of a result and would vote against it if it put to a vote, but I would like to see all these political fellows who are using the public money for their own selfish purposes and politics arrested and put where they ought to be, I don't care what party they belong to.

If the old gang was crooked we are not any better off under league rule. If Waters and Brinton were crooked it is my opinion they were put there for that purpose and they were not sick enough and they were set aside and others were put in their places and things have got in such condition the leaders of the league have got to do as Lowmyer told me to do. I do with his constituents. "Like like a horse thief." I don't know whether he said that or not but it looks that way. They said Langer had about the Scandinavian American bank, but it turned out the other way. It was the league or some of the leaders and not Langer, just as it did when they arrested Sullivan. They were willing to release him just as quick as some one got a sore head. Lets not have a recall to make strife and expense. If they do farmers don't contribute to the league or I V A. You have been fooled enough and you will be as Lowmyer said.

TREATMENT OF SEED WHEAT PAYS

Agricultural College, N. D., March 31—Formaldehyde treatment of seed wheat has increased the crop two bushels an acre even when no smut existed, experts at the Agricultural College say in urging this treatment for all small cereals to prevent plant diseases. Use one pound of formaldehyde to 40 gallons of water and spray and shovel, dig and use any method that will get the grains completely soaked. Soak the seed in corrosive sublimate solution, four ounces dissolved in a gallon of hot water and then made up to 20 gallons. Soak the first batch an hour, second 100 minutes the third two hours.

'WILD MAN' BACK TO CIVILIZATION
Mystery of Leaf River Bottoms, With Family, Lands in County Poorhouse.

LIVE LIKE ANIMALS
Forced to Leave Isolated Mountain Home by High Water—Aged Man Said He Caught Wife in a Bear Trap, 23 Years Ago.

Lux, Miss.—Surrounded by the comforts of civilization, Albert Parsons, known as the "wild man" of the Leaf river bottoms, his "wife," whom he said he caught 23 years ago in a bear trap, and a baby girl, all of whom strayed into this village, like people of another age, are as much a mystery to authorities as when they were discovered.

Flood Forced Them to Leave.
When flood, the man's clothes were in tatters, the woman wore the scanty remnants of a one-garment house dress and the baby was naked. They had been driven out of their shack by high water. Parsons said he owned the land and the shack.

The trio had lived principally upon roots, wild fruits and game they trapped, but there was evidence of an effort to farm with the aid of a blind horse, which Parsons said he had "captured."

Although the man's mind is said by authorities to be more nearly normal than the woman's, he is unable to account for the child. Parsons said he is seventy-two years old, but looks older. The "wife" is about fifty-five. The three have been sent to the county poorhouse, at Ellenville, Miss.

Had No Furniture in Cabin.
Parsons can handle a knife and fork, but the woman eats only with her hands and appears to be incapable of intelligent conversation.

The cabin in which the couple lived was destitute of furniture. A pile of old rags in one corner served as a bed. Two old pigs constituted the outfit of cooking utensils. Cows running on the range were milked to supply food for the baby. The cabin is on private property, but in a region which is isolated from the rest of the country by numerous lakes.

John Rush, prominent citizen of Omaha and now turned seventy is the uncle for whom the girls searched so long. He left his sister's home in Cincinnati in 1865 to seek his fortune. He reached Omaha in 1868 and became established here. Early failures made him forget to write, and when he did his sister had moved.

His daughters found him through a priest who was going through Omaha to a where one of them was living. He had exchanged of letters with them.

ONE OF LEGION'S FOUNDERS

Walter H. A. Coleman, Adjutant London Post, No. 1, Organized Body in British Capital.

Although he is thousands of miles from National Headquarters, Walter H. A. Coleman, adjutant of London Post No. 1 of the American Legion, is in close touch with the entire Legion program. Mr. Coleman was one of the founders of the Legion at its first camp in Paris and organized the post in the British capital.

Born in Philadelphia, Pa., Mr. Coleman was educated in private schools in that city and in New York. During his business experience in various departments of the Pennsylvania railroad, he lived in Philadelphia, New York City, Albany, N. Y., Indianapolis, Ind., and Bethlehem, Pa.

During the war Mr. Coleman served in the American Despatch Post, which had its base at Queenstown, Ireland. Since the war he has been connected with the United States Embassy in London.

London Post of the Legion took a leading part in decorating the graves of American soldiers buried in England Memorial Day, 1920.

HAS HUSTLING LABOR BUREAU

Nashville, Tenn., Post Tackles Hard Problem and Makes Most Efficient Showing.

In accordance with the general policy of American Legion posts in meeting the unemployment crisis as it affects the ex-service man, Nashville, Tenn., Post has tackled the situation with a considerable degree of Argonne enthusiasm.

An employment bureau has been established in charge of a Legion member, who devotes his full time to it. Both job applicants and employers seeking men are listed in a card index, according to their abilities and needs.

When a man applies at the Legion headquarters for a job, he is required to fill out a blank giving the following information: Name, address, place of birth, married or single; if he is an ex-service man, if he has dependents, special training and schools attended, with the extent of the education gained.

Trade test questions are: "Can you speak any foreign language?" "Do you understand card-index system?" "Can you operate a switchboard?" "Can you use a typewriter efficiently?" "Are you good at figures?" "Can you run an automobile or truck?"

Trades included in the list of job applicants for one day were electrician, druggist, salesman, accounting clerk, bookkeeper, draughtsman, insurance salesman, machinist and matron.

When the job seeker has filed his application, he is given a card to show that he has registered with the Legion bureau. When he is sent to an employer in response to a call, he is given a card of introduction stating that he is sent by the Legion bureau. His original application, together with the secretary's endorsement or estimate of the man, is forwarded to the prospective employer.

By arrangement with the negro post of the Legion, the employment bureau is able to answer calls for negro labor, applicants for work being listed with the negro secretary.

The work of the employment bureau is supported by funds available in the Legion treasury from a post show given last year. Another entertainment will be given soon to raise money for further operation of the bureau.

TRIBUNE WANTS FOR RESULTS

INSIDE STORY OF STILLMAN CASE REVEALED BY DIVORCE RECORDS

FIGURES IN THE STILLMAN DIVORCE TANGLE

Mrs. James A. Stillman (at left) in her counter-petition for divorce accuses Mrs. Florence Leeds (right) of being the mother of a child of which Stillman (below) is the father. In the center is Fred Beauvais, whom Stillman accuses of being the father of Mrs. Stillman's youngest child, Guy, pictured below the mother.

By Newspaper Enterprise.

New York, Mar. 28.—Here are the facts in the Stillman divorce tangle which has shaken society.

The information obtained comes from charges officially filed and affidavits sworn to and now locked up in the supreme court of New York.

Episode 1.
"Jim Stillman, as he was known in 1901, married society's debutant beauty, Anne Urquhart Potter, in Grace church, on June 3 of that year.

It was the crowning social event of that season. Gossips freely predicted that the couple would soon part because, as they expressed it, their tastes were identically alike.

These prophets of grief reminded each other that Jim and Anne belonged to the outdoor set of whirlwind sport and that each boasted independence of thought, purpose and action.

Jim was a Harvard man who had been pitcher of the Varsity nine, winner of the single scull race on the Charles river, and later quarterback on the Harvard team which beat Yale 18 to 0.

Anne was an auburn-haired beauty with the blood of her impetuous actress-mother stirring in her veins, an equestrienne of note, tennis player and breeder of pedigreed dogs. Both were fond of saying they were unconventional; that they adored hunting and that they were fond of children.

Two years after their marriage a daughter, Anne, was born to them.

Upon their return to New York, James Stillman entered the employ of the National City Bank as a clerk. His father was president of the institution. His college training, his ability to think and act wisely at a critical moment, together with his father's powerful influence, served to promote young Stillman.

In 1904, then, James was seen to be advancing toward the position of bank head. It was remembered that his family was linked with the book-stellers through marriage.

But between the mantle of his father and himself the powerful figure of Frank A. Vanderbilt, erstwhile reporter who developed into a mighty force in world finance, stood guard.

Meanwhile Mrs. Stillman, still a society favorite, attracted more attention than when she had been feted as plain Fifi Potter in the Episcopal church, where her young husband was a deacon and Sunday school teacher she was the recognized leader of ultra-smart bazaars.

She came into marked prominence when on several occasions she appeared in classic poses at public exhibitions, her tall, erect figure and Grecian profile causing much comment in the press of the day.

In 1907, it was whispered about that Stillman, Sr., was keeping a sharp lookout on his son. The father was then not only president of the bank but chairman of the board of directors. "Fifi" Stillman was still a favorite in society.

Girl and of chorus life in general. She told friends the show was not going well; that she still retained but a minor part.

"For a time she attended rehearsals, and then suddenly she appeared at the theater in a Rolls-Royce, garbed in pure pink, and said to friends that she was flirting with straight tips on the curb market and making heaps of money." So she resigned.

Episode 2.
In August, 1917, Mrs. Stillman engaged Fred Beauvais, French Canadian half-breed and guide to teach her children woodcraft. She had two sons then, James and Alexander.

Beauvais, well educated, handsome, young and noted came to New York from Three Rivers, Canada, and went to the Stillman estate at Pocantico Hills.

The papers say that Beauvais knew the Stillman family well and was welcomed, for he had been a guide at their luxurious Canadian camp.

"It was there, in the Canadian wilds," continue the husband's charges, "that Beauvais won the love of Mrs. Stillman."

In Stillman's complaint, he adds this: "For three years the intimacy continued despite my attempts to stop it, despite my refusal to condone, legally or otherwise, I managed to get Beauvais off my estate at Pocantico Hills, and I barred him from my camp at Three Rivers."

Beauvais secured a job at a sporting outfit house in New York.

Episode 4.
The court papers continue that "Mr. and Mrs. Leeds were well known by sight to many of the tenants in the apartment house at 84 East 86th street during January, 1918."

Mrs. Leeds was, of course, Florence of the Century chorus, and Leeds, according to Frank Ivins' affidavit, was that of Sophie Erickson, a maid, was James A. Stillman, Jr., vice president and director of the National City Bank.

They kept their tongues, they say, but "we," what was the use?" Then came March, and the death of James A. Stillman, the father of Jim.

In two weeks after the death of James Stillman the son was made chairman of the board of directors and note paper of the National City Bank read: "James Alexander Stillman, vice president." Frank Vanderbilt, however, retained his hold.

During this summer Mrs. Leeds remained in retirement at Rest Court, Stony Beach, L. I., in a handsome villa rented from Pitts Duffield, millionaire sportsman of New York.

mained in retirement at Rest Court, Stony Beach, L. I., in a handsome villa rented from Pitts Duffield, millionaire sportsman of New York.

Episode 5.
"Fifi" Potter Stillman entertained lavishly at the Stillman home in Pocantico Hills, but it was observed that Mr. Stillman attended these functions rarely, if at all.

Autumn came and both women returned to their respective homes in town.

Stillman divided his time almost equally, say the affidavits, between his wife and Mrs. Leeds.

Fred Beauvais, the half-breed guide, left New York and returned to Montreal. He opened an insurance office in the Canadian city.

On Sept. 17, 1918, "Jay" Leeds, sworn to officially as the son of Harold and Florence Leeds, was born in the E. 86th street apartment. Dr. James Ogilvie, noted surgeon, signed the birth certificate although he added the note that he was not the attending physician.

Exactly two months later at the Stillman home, "Fifi" Potter Stillman gave birth to Guy Stillman. The birth certificate said that Anne Urquhart and James Alexander Stillman were its parents.

Episode 6.
Winter came and passed, and 1919 found Stillman engaged in a bank battle to attain the presidency of the institution, then held by Frank Vanderbilt.

Suddenly Vanderbilt resigned without giving a reason, and Stillman was immediately named as president of the National City Bank. The chairmanship of the board of directors, the only position that rivaled the presidency, was left open. Stillman won it.

It was commented on at the birth of Guy Stillman that his name had not been given a place in the Social Register and that when Stillman was asked by that publication to attest by his signature that the boy was his child, he refused to do so, offering no explanation.

Mrs. Leeds, however, rode out daily sworn to officially as the son of Harold in her new Pierce-Arrow car, calling on personal friends, she the affidavits, exhibiting her baby, proudly to some, cautiously to others.

The name of little Jay Leeds did not, of course, reach the Social Register despite the affluence and friendship of Stillman because Mrs. Leeds was not of society.

ship of Stillman because Mrs. Leeds was not of society.

Episode 7.
In June, 1920, society was suddenly startled by the publication of two anonymous letters, one being an answer to the other. A society journal surrounded these letters with question marks, and they were traced to the Stillman home.

Pinned down by a swarm of reporters, Mrs. Stillman issued a statement in which she said simply that both letters were hers and that they had been stolen from a wall safe in her room.

Immediately after the first two letters had been published Stillman started a secret action for divorce against his talented wife. He denied the paternity of Guy Stillman, and named Beauvais as co-respondent.

Thinking to avoid notoriety he left the jurisdiction of New York City courts and filed his complaint in the obscure county of Westchester.

Mrs. Stillman immediately brought counter-suit, naming Florence Leeds in her answer that "Mrs. Leeds is the inamorata of my husband, and her child, Jay, is my husband's child."

Although astute attorneys for Stillman succeeded in having the papers sealed and filed in remote Dutchess county, reporters succeeded in finding the papers, studying them and making their contents known.

The Stillmans immediately parted. Mrs. Stillman succeeded in obtaining a court order which compels her husband to provide her with $60,000 yearly alimony, pending the trial of her suit.

Mrs. Leeds has hurried to Florida, accompanied by her maids, Jap servants, four automobiles, a doctor, a nurse and three lawyers.

"Fifi" Potter Stillman has secluded herself at Lakewood, N. J., and has with her the three children, Guy, Alexander and Anne. The two latter children have turned against their father, and are proclaiming their loyalty to their talented mother.

Stillman remains at the Union League club.

The palatial steam yacht, "Modesty," owned by Stillman, has dropped anchor in the Bay of Biscayne, just off Miami, Florida, and active preparations are being made to equip her for a long cruise.

Meanwhile Mrs. Leeds occupies the Cleveland villa, a palatial mansion adjoining the Flamingo hotel, at Miami, and is guarded night and day by private detectives.

BARREN PLUM TREE PROBLEM IS EXPLAINED

Agricultural College Expert Says Situation Can Be Remedied

Agricultural College, N. D., March 31.—The mystery of the barren plum tree is explained.

A resident of the state asked the horticulture department of the agricultural college why his plum trees failed to bear, although they bloom profusely each year. The question is asked by dozens of people, says A. F. Yeager, head of the department, who gives the answer:

"Plum trees fail to bear, the trouble usually can be traced to a lack of cross pollination. If there is but one variety of plum, even though there be many trees of that variety, there will be no fruit. Experiments have proven that none of our plums can set fruit unless their blossoms have pollen of some other variety of plum carried to them by insects. This means that to insure a setting of fruit a tree of some other variety should be planted near enough that insects will visit back and forth between varieties."

"Doing this will help the crop of future years, and for this year's crop a branch from another variety of plum that is in bloom may be put in a pail of water beneath the tree to be pollinated. The insects will do the rest."

"Five varieties of plums and sand-cherries in favor now are the Terry, DeSoto, Surprise, Opata, Compass cherry. If a tree is being planted as a pollinizer, the latter two are especially recommended because they will bloom one year after setting."

HALL SHOWS "UNCLE JOE"

Marmarth, N. D., March 31.—Work on Marmarth's new school building, in which contractors have $24,000 invested, has been halted because of nonpayment on $52,000 worth of school bonds sold to the state board of university and school lands.

The school board hopes to obtain the $52,000 loan within about two months, but also desires to obtain $25,000 more deemed necessary to enclose the building against the coming of winter. In the original plans completion of the building for the opening of school this fall was planned.

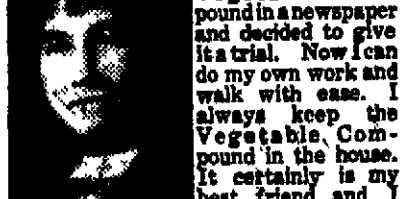

FURNACE STARTS FIRE

COULD NOT KEEP HOUSE

Without Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, Says Mrs. Pitts of Newburgh

Newburgh, N. Y.—"My trouble was a weak back and I could not walk two blocks without being tired out. I read of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in a newspaper and decided to give it a trial. Now I can do my own work and walk with ease. I always keep the Vegetable Compound in the house. It certainly is my best friend and I could not keep house without it. I have recommended it to many and always with success. You may use this letter if you wish."—Mrs. EDWARD PRITS, 2 High St., Newburgh, N. Y.

It has been said that "backache is an invention of the Evil One to try women's souls," but even so, it is more often a symptom of a female trouble which sooner or later declares itself. Day after day it drags a woman down, and night after night prevents restful sleep. Such a woman should follow Mrs. Pitts' advice and try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and regain health.

Letters about your health will be given careful attention and held in strict confidence if you write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. Their experience of over 40 years is at your service.
